Polished Plaster

Here's a look at some of the most traditional designs known world over for their long established supremacy.

POLISHED PLASTER

There is an enduring and increasing appreciation for natural materials in design. There's a growing focus on blurring the architectural line between indoors and out. And Polished Plaster is quite literally the earth on your walls.

ARRCOAT Polished Plasters are made from marble dust and/or marble chips to create the unique look of each finish. ARRCOAT develops and manufactures all its materials in India and over the years has progressively honed its formulas to increase product hardness and durability.

The look is earthy and soft. The application in thin translucent layers creates an iridescent finish, giving the appearance of depth and movement.
